CEO MESSAGE

Our Bank achieved a remarkable recovery during 2022. Our operating results showed a significant improvement, in spite of one non-recurring charge due to the Russian crisis. We have therefore maintained our sound financial indicators, with a capital adequacy ratio at 49.88% end of 2022, compared to the 10.5% minimum regulatory requirement, and 471.15% liquidity coverage ratio, against a minimum of 110% required.

All through 2022, a sequence of unprecedented macroeconomic disruptions occurred. The war in Ukraine was undoubtably the most dramatic and important development of the year. Beyond the human tragedy, the international sanctions had serious costs for the world economy.

Russia being a major Commodities' exporter, the world economy has been confronted with a commodity supply shock, with consequences for both growth and inflation. The latter has continued to surprise on the upswing in 2022, reaching multi-decade highs around the world. In September, U.S. consumer prices index spiked with a 9.1% increase from a year earlier, reaching its highest level in 40 years, driven by rising prices for gasoline, food and services.

The inflationary surge led to the end of the "easy money" period as central banks started a tightening monetary policy cycle. For example, The FED has started hiking interest rates in March 2022 from an initial 0.25% to reach 4.50% in December to counter inflation that has turned out to be more resilient than expected.

The year 2022 will be recorded as one of the few years in which both equities and fixed income markets experienced a double-digit decline. Commodities however were the best performing asset class. At the end of year, the Bloomberg Commodity Spot Index was up 11.6%. Crude oil prices increased by 60% towards the beginning of the summer. However, performance was not positive in all commodity subsegments. Industrial metals ended the period in negative territory as Covid's blockades in China weighed on industrial activity and threatened to curb metal imports.

The past year saw the launch of BankMed Suisse SA's discretionary management, and the reinforcement of its advisory services. Our equity performance tool tracks 1,200 listed stocks worldwide, and the quantitative filter we apply allows us to propose a monthly selection of stocks that outperform by 6.11% the MSCI World in 2022. We have also set up and updated a complete investment universe, in line with regulatory requirements.

The macroeconomic context and geopolitical risks led our investment committee, since its first meeting on January 2022, to adopt a defensive approach that was maintained throughout the year. This was reflected within portfolios by the implementation of a relatively short duration exposure on fixed income instruments and an overweight of commodities at the expense of equities.

Such conservative allocation allowed our portfolios to outperform most of their peers. Our USD Balanced Model Portfolio posted a relative performance well above the private banking benchmarks (our balanced dollar portfolio outperformed the industry average by 5.5%).

Our development journey will continue throughout 2023 and beyond. We are grateful to our customers and all our external partners for their extended trust and cooperation, and we look forward for a growing and successful collaboration.

Fadi Halout Chief Executive Officer

Treatment of doubtful interest income

Interest due and unpaid for more than 90 days is considered as doubtful and a value adjustment is recorded. Interest is no longer recorded when the credit facility is considered unrecoverable.

3. RISK MANAGEMENT

Credit Risks:

Counterparty risk: The Bank's credit limits are authorized annually. The customer credit limits are approved by either the Board of Directors, or The Credit Committee. The Risk department regularly monitors compliance with delegated authority and authorized limits as well as quality of the credits.

Country Risk: The Bank aims to ensure that its exposure to country risk is appropriately considered in its risk profile prudently managed in a way to minimise losses. Risk resulting from concentration of exposures to geographical regions. Country limits are approved by the Board of Director and annually reviewed. Potential loss of assets deposited or held in a foreign country. This can arise from political, economic, or social changes.

Market risks

Interest rate risk: The Bank's policy is to hedge its interest-rate risk by refinancing fixed-term advances and loans to customers at similar amounts, terms and currencies. The exposure is measured and limited in terms of capital sensitivity. The limits are monitored regularly.

Currency, money market and securities risks: Limits are set and monitored daily by management. The Board of Directors has sole authority to approve investments for own account.

Liquidity risk: Liquidity management aims to generate a solid position, allowing the bank to meet its payment obligations at all times by diversifying its sources of refinancing. Liquidity and funding limits are approved annually by the Board of Directors, taking into account business strategy and risk appetite.

Operational Risk - Risk to earnings and/or capital resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people, and systems or from external events. Operational risk comprises Fraud Risk, Business Continuity Risk, Information Security Risk (including Data Privacy, Data Loss Protection and Cybersecurity Risk), IT Service & Availability Risk (including Payments Processing Risk), Data Quality & Reliability Risk, Vendor & Suppliers Sourcing Risk, Talent Retention, and unauthorized Trading Risks

The Board of Directors annually reviews the operational risk Management policy. The business continuity plan also helps to ensure operational safety in the event of both Internal and external disaster.

Reputational risk: The Compliance officer monitors compliance with the regulations in force. In particular, he ensures that when entering into a business relationship, the duties of diligence are respected.

Legal risks: Management conducts an analysis of the legal risks to which the Bank is exposed. If a potential risk occurs, a severity review is conducted. Depending on risk assessment, the case is presented to the lawyer advice from the Bank. After analysis, the possibility of a need for provision is discussed.

4. Notes

Methods used for the identification of default risks and for determining the need for value adjustments:

Identification of risk of default and value adjustment requirements Non performing loans are identified through lists of exceptions (limits breaches, collateral value, unpaid interest). Knowledge of the customers' activity also allows to assess the risk on an individual basis. Provisions are recorded for the impaired portion.

Lombards loans and other loans covered by securities: Loans and the value of pledged securities are verified daily. If the collateral value of the collateral is less than the amount of the credit, the bank requires either partial repayment or additional collateral. If the coverage gap grows or if there are exceptional market conditions, the bank realizes the collateral.

Unsecured loans : Unsecured loans are generally trade credits or account overruns granted to customers. For trade loans, the bank requests information on the company's business market annually or at shorter intervals. It requests audited financial statements and, where appropriate, interim closes. This information shall be reviewed with a view to identifying any increase in risk. If this phase shows that the credit is compromised, the bank constitutes a value adjustment.

Procedure for determining value adjustments and provision: New requirements for value adjustments and provisions shall consist of cover for the risks identified which are the result of an individual examination of the loan and pledges. Risk positions shall be revalued at each closing date and value adjustments adjusted accordingly if necessary.

Value adjustments for latent default risks are value adjustments for losses incurred which cannot yet be attributed to a separate borrower. Latent default risks arise from risks present on balance sheet day in an apparently sound credit portfolio, which will only become apparent at a later date. Their estimate is based in principle on values derived from experience.

Based on the bank's loss history, the average impaired credit loss rate is close to 0%. As a result, no provision was made.

Valuation of credit collateral: For Lombard loans and other loans covered by securities, only easily negotiable collateral (bonds, shares) is accepted. To hedge market risk, the bank applies reductions on the market price of securities accepted as collateral.

For Mortgages loan and loan secured mortgage, the value of the real estate cover handed over to the bank is established on the basis of external valuations, to which a specific advance rate is applied."

Off-balance-sheet transactions are treated in the same way, whether they are firm commitments or conditional guarantees."

Business policy when implementing derivative financial instruments, hedge accounting

Derivative financial instruments are used for trading purposes. The Bank does not apply hedge accounting. It is principally limited to forward foreign exchange transactions intended to partially hedge the foreign exchange risk on foreign currency positions on the balance sheet.

All of the Bank's derivative financial instruments are measured at fair value. Positive and negative replacement values of transactions on behalf of customers and for own account (hedging) are shown in the balance sheet under the headings "Positive replacement values of derivative financial instruments" and "Negative replacement values of derivative financial instruments". Fair value derives either from the price resulting from an efficient and liquid market or from the price offered by market makers. Results from derivatives are presented under "Result from trading activities". "
